

★
Marty and other dog's national anthem: ★

★
O say can you smell?
By the dog's early light?
★
What so proudly we barked at
At the twilight's last gleaming
Who's broad bones and bright kibble
★
Through the perilous CATS?
At the kitty's angry glare
The faux-fish bursting in air
★
Gave proof to the night
That our bones were still there
★
O say does that bone-shaped BANNER yet wave?
O'er the land of the dogs and the home of our bones???

What dogs think of America:

★
O beautiful for spacious bones
And hamburgers in the waves
For purple popsicle majesties
And the cute fruit they serve on airplanes
★
AMERICA, AMERICA
We shed our fur on thee
And crown thy good
With doggy-hood
From bone to tasty bone!!!
~ By Melaina from Massachusetts

More Marty style on: www.beaconstreetgirls.com